Scheduled to go on the boards May 22 and 23, "Flight Into Danger" is the story of the drama aboard a great airliner when both pilots and some of the passengers are struck by illness while enroute from Chicago to Los Angeles, and of the quiet heroism both in the air and on the ground that averts the impending tragedy.

Director Doreen J. Dliso and a large cast of fine actors are tying together the lines of this excellent drama into a taut, potent package of entertainment. The story is adapted for the theater by Christopher Sergel from an original television play by Arthur Hailey.

Be sure to be in the audience at the Horace Moses Building Theater, Eastern States Park opposite the Music Tent on May 22 or 23 so that you can join the Chalkliners, Agawam's community theater, on a "Flight Into Danger". Your ticket is your boarding pass... Welcome aboard.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. If I am receiving rehabilitation training services, can I still get my social security disability benefits?

A. Yes. You may continue to receive disability payments as long as you are not working, whether you are being rehabilitated or not. If, as a result of rehabilitation, you are able to do some new kind of work, then you will receive benefits during a nine-months' "trial work period" to which can be added a further, "grace", period of three months.

Q. What services are offered by State Vocational Rehabilitation agencies?

A. The agencies, in accordance with State and Federal law, offer everything from physical and medical restoration—including, for example, an artificial limb—to the teaching of a new trade. Vocational rehabilitation is an individual matter; each person

Q. I am planning to apply for social security retirement benefits. I was told that I can earn $1200 a year and still get my payments. My brother-in-law insists that I would have to limit my earnings to $100 a month. Is he right?

A. No. If you do not earn over $1200 in a year, it does not make any difference how much you earn in any one month.

Q. I work in a summer resort area and earn wages of about $3000 between April 1 and October 31. In the winter when the lake freezes and everybody stays at home, I stay home too. I am now 66 years old. Can I get social security benefits for these winter months?

A. Yes. You can get social security benefits for any month in which you do not earn $100 in wages or actively work in a business of your own.

Q. The only proof of age I have is a baptismal certificate written in Norwegian, and I don't want to part with it. How can I use it as proof of age when I apply for social security?

A. The certificate will be translated by an official translator of the Social Security Administration and a certified copy made. Then it will be returned to you.

DAVID C. GALLANO
Director of Veterans Services

A disabled veteran who finds he can't keep his appointment at a Veterans Administration clinic for outpatient treatment should notify the clinic at least 24 hours ahead of time, so VA may schedule another disabled veteran in his place, Dr. Thomas J. Quigley, director, VA's Outpatient Clinic, Boston, said today.

VA clinics are extremely busy providing treatments to eligible veterans for service-connected disabilities and a broken appointment isn't fair to other disabled veterans who could have been treated at that time if the veteran had given sufficient advance notice of cancellation, Dr. Quigley advised.

VA has established certain rules to keep broken outpatient appointments to a minimum. When a disabled veteran breaks one appointment without a reasonable excuse or advance notice, he is notified by VA that if he breaks another without at least 24 hours' notice or a reasonable excuse, he will be deemed to have refused government treatment. The veteran will then receive no further treatment until he has filed a formal application for it and satisfactorily shows a willingness to cooperate by keeping his appointments or by giving at least 24 hours' notice when an appointment must be broken.

"These rules," Dr. Quigley said, "are in operation for the benefit of all eligible veterans who need treatment for their service-connected disabilities. They also assure full use of our clinics, which is an important consideration in view of the large number of veterans eligible for this treatment."

Trouble about telling little white lies is they pick up so much dirt while traveling.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

Landowner's, sportsmen's clubs, conservation organizations, town conservation commissions, community planners and others interested in improving conditions for wildlife on their property may obtain technical advice from the Division of Fisheries and Game, Director James Shepard announced recently.

Persons wishing to obtain such guidance should contact the division's wildlife district manager in their area. Eugene Moran, 400 Hubbard Avenue, Pittsfield, is manager of the western district which includes Berkshire and Hampden counties, the western half of Franklin county, all towns except Ware in Hampshire county, and all towns except Palmer, Brimfield, Monson, Wales and Holland in Hampden County. Emerson Chandler, Rice Lane, Westboro, is in charge of Worcester county plus the towns previously named as excepted from the western district.

The division has been offering such services on a limited scale for many years. However, the state fisheries and game board voted at its April meeting to make these technical advisory extension services available on a wider basis.

Cortland Offers

Dick Jennings, public relations man for the Cortland Line Company, sends down the following message. Fishing derbies or rodeos for youngsters are important if only because they often expose to the fun of fishing many kids who might otherwise miss out. These are the urchins with dads and uncles who "always meant to take them fishing", but never got around to it. It's important that these derby kids get plenty of "action" during this all-important introduction to angling. So it is recommended that plentiful panfish be the quarry. And if you'll fit out the neophyte angler with a light fly rod and some small popping bugs, he'll not only have a ball but will find out real early in his career the joys of fly rod fishing. Panfish on a fly rod are guaranteed to hook both fish and fisherman for life.

As it had done for several seasons past, Cortland will lend a hand by supplying such handy props as Contestant Tags, literature and actual coils and spools of fishing line. It is necessary only for the rodeo chairman to write Cortland, giving name, date, location of event, plus approximately number of kids expected. Cortland will do the rest.

Cutting corners can save a lot of time in certain areas. But cutting corners when driving may cost you time — time on this Earth, the ALA warns. Take it easy and live.

Melha Shrine Circus Opens Today at Coliseum

One of the highlights of the 10th Annual Melha Shrine Circus, which opens today at the Eastern States Coliseum, West Springfield, will be the performance of Miss Reni Rossana, the beautiful trapeze artist.

Miss Rossana is a true circus performer. She was born in Czechoslovakia 19 years ago and has travelled in the circus with her parents all of her life. As soon as she was old enough her Mother taught her ballet so that she might gain grace and poise. From that she soon followed her Mother's footsteps to swinging on a single trapeze.

It wasn't long before she became a headliner in her own right as she developed her skills on the trapeze quickly. Not only was she fortunate enough to develop into an extremely attractive young lady who possesses plenty of grace skill, but she never knew the meaning of fear.

The latter is easy to believe when you see this accomplished beauty do a single foot stand on a trapeze bar suspended high in the air and without the assistance of any type of safety device or net. As a finale to her breathtaking performance she does a head stand on the bar while it is swinging through the air. Truly an outstanding performance by an attractive and talented performer.

As a fitting tribute to her talents as a performer she recently won an Emmy Award after three weeks of competition while representing the U.S.A. in a competition in Sao Paula, Brazil.

Miss Rossana will be featured as just one of more than 20 acts when the Melha Shrine Circus opens at the Eastern States Coliseum this evening for just 3 big nights and 4 matinees.

Tickets may be secured at the Coliseum.

STUDENTS VISIT WORLD'S FAIR

Fifty-one Agawam High School commercial students visited the World's Fair on opening day Wednesday April 22. The group visited many exhibits of which the G-E, Bell, I.B.M., Ford and General Motors were considered best. The presence of President Johnson and CORE demonstrators added interest to the day.

Prior to visiting the fair, a tour of New York City was also taken. The small opening day crowd made it possible for the group to take in many exhibits. Perhaps the greatest thrill to the students was viewing Michelangelo's Pieta in the Vatican Pavilion. The 6,500 lb. marble statue of Christ and Mother in a blue setting was the most profound emotional exhibit at the fair.

Chaperons for the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Altobelli and Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan.

My Beat — A.H.S.

by Marsha Della-Giustina

"Strike two!"

Once again the spring sports' season has begun and the AHS baseball team is swinging with a two-one record. Mr. Joseph Faucette, AHS biology teacher, coaches the varsity team.

The team is well-experienced with ten returning seniors. In the pitchers' box is Bobby Morin, Jack Michalak, and Ronnie Provost. Receiving the ball at the other end are AHS' two catchers Eddie Harashuk and Joe Cibrowski.

The important infielders consist of three seniors and one sophomore. First base is held by Richie Chandler while second base is guarded by Bobby Barnes. Howie Mosher holds his own at third base as Sam Provo backs up the pitcher as short-stop.

And of course, we can not forget our outfielders who must be quick, capable, and wise in decision-making! Emile Barbero, Wayne Kerez, Bobby Polopek, Tom Rudderford, and Billy Polopek play the important outfield area.

What are Agawam's chances this season? Here is the opinion of a member of the team, Joe Cibrowski who said, "This year's team is well-experienced with ten returning seniors. The team has great potential and with a little luck, we could go all the way!"

I hope you do well, boys! You have AHS backing you!

JV Baseball

Mr. Robert Fassnacht, AHS English teacher, coaches the junior varsity team. The JV team has been holding its own this season with some really splendid games. The JV team gives the boys practice and experience for next year's varsity team.

Also playing JV ball are Mike Wilson, Don Sovaria, Tommy Shaker, Mark Lyons, and Robert Chandler.

Keep up the good work, boys!

Three Physics Students Honored

The AHS science faculty chose three students of the physics program to be honored at the Monsanto "Chemical Progress Day" on Wednesday, April 29. The students were chosen on a basis of their high standing in both chemistry and physics.

Carl Novak, Donald Headley, and Craig Pineo represented Agawam High School at the Monsanto Plant.

The three students left Wednesday at eleven o'clock and enjoyed a delicious luncheon at noontime. They were then given a tour of the plant and its various buildings. Novak and Pineo were taken by Mr. Chappellear, a basic researcher, to his lab where they helped him with his project.

Carl used golf balls and dental wax to determine the space between molecules in various packings.

Craig Pineo's project was titrating ethyl benzene and distilled water to determine the point at which the mixture changed from benzene and water to water and benzene.

Don Headley was taken to a different lab by Monsanto's Mr. Russell whose job consists of working on products to see if the materials used are good enough for lasting qualities. Don helped Mr. Russell by evaluating materials according to degrees of quality.

The students enjoyed their visit very much. Don Headley remarked, "It was an interesting look at the progress and development going on in America's industrial plants for better materials in modern living."

Craig Pineo exclaimed, "It was a fabulous experience!" And Carl Novak added "Golf balls were great fun!" Imagine playing with golf balls in research!!

Coming events: Prom is held May 22...Yearbook staff has already started work!...Clubs elect officers for next year!...Cheerleaders are chosen tomorrow morning!...Tomorrow is dress-up day! Don't forget!!

If you think children don't know the value of money, try giving one a nickel.
